Forgotten Books, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Law of Hotel Life: Or the Wrongs and Rights of Host and Guest The author knows as well as did old Burton that books are so plentiful that they serve to put under pies, to lap spice in, and keep roast meat from burning, yet he ventures to offer another volume to the public, trusting that some men's fancies will incline towards and approve of it; for writings are so many dishes, readers guests, books like beauty - that which one admires another rejects. He thinks he can say, in the words of Democritus Junior, that as a good housewife out of divers fleeces weaves one piece of cloth, a bee gathers wax and honey out of many flowers, and makes a new bundle of all, I have laboriously collected this cento out of divers authors, and that sine injuria. I cite and quote mine authors. This volume was written at the suggestion of the Publishers, as a companion to The Wrongs and Rights of a Traveller, and is now committed to the tender mercies of general readers, and to the microscopic eyes of the critics who know everything. Doubtless mistakes will be found; but if every one knew the law who thinks he does, lawyers would starve.
