Wheatley; and every overture or selection played was conducted by each of those gentlemen alternately. Trusting that you will pardon my troubling you and trespassing upon your valuable columns, --I am, dear Sir, yours very truly, Allan A. Vassie. The Australasian Band Journal Office, 149, Chesterton-road, North Kensington, W. November 8th, 1888. TO THE EDITOR OF THE BRITISH BANDSMAN. Sir, --Having read with very great interest Mr. Dowdnl's letter in your November issue, I quite concur with him as to the desirability of forming an Amateur Band League, and I shall be very pleased when I know that one is being established. In this town there are two bands (brass) which are in enmity with each other as regards taking engagements, and of course this...
